

McCOY CHARGED WITH MURDER

His Daughter Discovers Woman Killed Two Weeks Ago.—Shoots Himself as they Stand at the Window

Pelham, Oct. 30.—Ernest McCoy, who shot himself late yesterday and whose wife was found murdered in the adjoining room, was arrested and brought to Manchester, charged with her murder, following the autopsy held in the parlor of the McCoy home here last night. He is alleged to have admitted having killed his wife.

South Pelham, Oct. 29.—After sending letters to his two daughters, telling them he would be dead when they reached his house, Ernest McCoy, a farmer residing at the Griffin farm, Hillman's Mills turnout, in this township, waited until the girls reached the farmhouse and then attempted to kill himself by firing a bullet into his head. The bullet failed to penetrate his brain.

While the girls were seeking bandages with which to stem the flow of blood from his wound, they were horrified to find the lifeless body of their step-mother reclining on a couch in the parlor with a gaping bullet hole in her heart. The murdered woman, whose age was 80 years, has been missing for ten days. Her husband informed the neighbors she had gone away on an extended visit.

Medical Examiner B. G. Moran, who was called from Nashua at once notified the county authorities. County Solicitor P. H. Sullivan and Sheriff J. K. Ramsey of Manchester hastened to the scene in an automobile. An autopsy was held upon their arrival. Physicians said Mrs. McCoy has been dead for days. McCoy will live. He may face the charge of murdering his wife.

The first intimation of trouble at the McCoy home came this afternoon when his daughters were notified by him through the mails that he contemplated suicide.

"When you get this letter I will be dead," he wrote to each of them. They hurriedly consulted each other and started for the farm house. On the way they stopped at the home of Alfred Chase, a neighbor, and asked him to accompany them.

WRECKERS BUSY ON RAILROAD

Called to Rockingham Junction and North Berwick.

The wrecking crew of the Boston & Maine Railroad in this city have been quite busy for the last 24 hours. On Wednesday afternoon they were called to Rockingham Junction to replace trucks on damaged cars and today went to North Berwick on the same kind of a job. Now for the third call, which is almost certain to come.

NEARLY HIT CHILD.

Quick Work of Driver Saves Life of Baby in Street.

The quick action of a driver of one of the American Express wagons saved the life of a baby this noon on Daniel street. The child attempted to cross the street as the wagon came along and the vehicle was so close that bystanders expected its life would be crushed out. The driver in checking the speed of the horse, acted so quickly that the big animal was thrown heavily on the asphalt paving.

MRS. EATON 'NOT GUILTY'

Jury Returns Verdict in Her Favor After Being Out All Night

Plymouth, Oct. 30.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with poisoning her husband Rear Admiral Eaton, after being out all night returned a verdict of not guilty this morning. It is said that the jury stood 8 to 4 for acquittal before final decision was reached.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 30.—The case of Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, was given to the jury in the superior court shortly after 6 tonight.

At 2 this morning the jurors were still in session and hope for a verdict until sometime later was abandoned.

Various exhibits, including bottles of arsenic and letters written by Mrs. Eaton, were taken to the jury room to be considered by the jury in reaching a verdict, in accordance with the closing instructions of Chief Justice Alken.

At midnight the jurors were still in session.

Almost the entire day was taken up with the arguments of counsel, the charge of Judge Alken occupying only half an hour at the end.

William A. Morse, counsel for Mrs. Eaton spoke for four hours, drawing a picture of the defendant as a loving, self-sacrificing wife, entirely justified in her beliefs about her husband. She was a "martyr" and her only fault was that she "loved too much" her attorney declared, while he portrayed the admiral as a man of double personality, one in whom corruption was concealed under the mask of a gentlemanly bearing. He asserted that the prosecution had not proved a single count in its case against Mrs. Eaton.

"This woman," he said, "does not avail herself of any claim of insanity to avoid a condemnation but bravely demands a verdict on the facts." Mr. Morse asserted that his client was not insane and argued that the evidence showed that the death of the admiral could not have been caused by an insane person.

THE POST OFFICE PATRONAGE

Sen. Hollis is in Position to Squeeze Congressman Reed When it Comes to Handing Out Ap- pointments in this State

The Manchester Mirror in a dispatch dated Concord, comments on the post office situation and says it is the intention of United States Senator Hollis to handle the patronage and not allow Congressman Reed to make the selections. The article follows:

"It has always been considered the prerogative of the member of Congress to name the postmasters in the presidential offices in his district, unless a United States Senator, lived in a city or town where one of these presidential offices is located. The congressmen in both districts of New Hampshire have invariably had at their disposal this patronage, and there has been but little, if any, interference on the part of the senators.

It is said that United States Senator Henry F. Hollis does not propose to follow this precedent as far as the first district of New Hampshire is concerned, and that in the large offices he proposes not only to have his say, but it is understood that he will insist upon his candidate.

being appointed. This is due to the fact of the break between Congressman Reed and Senator Hollis.

Already evidence of the fight over the postoffice patronage has come to the surface in the first contest of importance in the city of Dover. It is down in the city of Dover. The present Republican Postmaster is John T. Welch. There are two candidates for his place. One is former Mayor Michael J. White who has the backing of Congressman Reed, and the other is Representative George H. Sherry, who has the active support of Senator Hollis.

In the 18 years service of former Congressman Sulloway, but one instance of this issue was ever raised. It was over the appointment of a postmaster at Laconia. Mr. Sulloway at that time endorsed the appointment of the present postmaster of that city, Julian P. Traub. At that time Senator Gallinger was opposed to Mr. Traub and was for the appointment of Frank L. Gilman, now deceased. It was a rather warm contest and while Mr. Sulloway put up a big fight on the snow down, there was nothing to it, and Mr. Gilman won in a walk. President McKinley stated at that time that it would be idle to name a candidate that was hostile in a senator for the

HARVEST SUPPER AT RYE TOWN HALL

Ladies' Social Union of the Christian Church Gave Pleasing Entertainment.

The Ladies' Social Union of the Christian church held their annual harvest supper on Wednesday evening in Rye Town Hall.

The banquet hall was attractively arranged with full laden tables. A large centerpiece of chrysanthemums made each table very pretty and added much to its attractiveness.

The appetizing supper consisted of the following bill of fare:

Baked beans, brown and white; brown bread, white bread, rolls, corn meats, relishes, pies, doughnuts.

The tables were filled to capacity throughout the evening, and the event was very successful.

Following this an entertainment was presented which embodied the following program:

Selections..... Orchestra
Vocal Duo..... Mrs. Ernest H. Seavey, Mrs. Joseph O. Seavey.
Reading..... Miss A. Lillian Walker
Selection..... Orchestra
Vocal Trio..... Misses Bernice Brown, Evelyn Brown, Dorothy Thurnth.
Vocal Solo..... Mrs. Everett H. Seavey

Selection..... Orchestra

Each participant deserves much credit for their pleasing entertainment and Miss A. Lillian Walker who made her initial appearance here last evening delighted her audience with her readings.

The orchestra played several choice selections and consisted of Miss S. Minnette Foss, pianist; Mr. Ernest Moulton, cornetist; Mr. Charles M. Rand, cellist, and Mr. George H. Whittier, violinist.

The general chairman of arrangements was Mrs. George N. Perry, president of the Ladies' Union. The chairman of the supper committee was Mrs. Joseph Becker, assisted by Mrs. Flora B. Seavey, Mrs. Walter S. Philbrick, Mrs. Mary J. Vorell, Mrs. Herman Rand, Mrs. Frank Rand, Mrs. Wilbur Marden, Mrs. Chauncey Woodman, Mrs. Irving Garland.

The dining room committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Drake, with Misses Emma Dearborn, Lucy Marden, Florence Marden, Ethel Rand, Lena Foss and Elizabeth Goss as waitresses.

Mrs. Frank P. Rand and Mrs. Flora B. Seavey had charge of the entertainment.

WILSON DENIES SPOILS SYSTEM

Deputy Revenue Collectors Must Be Chosen for Fit- ness Alone.

Washington, Oct. 29.—By direction of President Wilson, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborn, tonight instructed collectors throughout the country, that the recent action of congress in removing deputy collectors from the protection of the civil service did not mean a return to the spoils system, and was done only for the sake of efficiency. In a letter to collectors, Mr. Osborn said:

"Collectors are advised that the object of this provision of law is efficiency, and that any tendency to use this class of appointments merely for personal reward or for anything that savors of the spoils system will be regarded as a very serious disregard of public duty, and that they will be expected to deal with these matters in a spirit which the whole country will approve.

"Hereafter when vacancies in this class of officers occur or charges are contemplated, and before such vacancies are filled or such charges are effected, collectors will forward to this office the names of the persons whom it is desired to appoint together with a statement of their qualifications and records. No appointments in this class of officers shall hereafter be made by collectors without the approval of the department."

FORMING NEW PLAN FOR PEACE

President Wilson Believes
Constitutional Government Must Be Established in Mexico.

Washington, Oct. 29.—President Wilson has under consideration a new plan for restoring peace in Mexico which he will discuss with his cabinet Friday and make it public in a few days.

Officials were reticent as to what is contemplated. As the United States has asked not only the foreign governments, but those of Latin America and the Orient to withhold the formulation of their policy toward Mexico until the Washington government can make known its plans for dealing with the situation, the solution upon which the President and Secretary Bryan are working, it is believed to be more specific than any suggestion heretofore made for the pacification of the southern republic.

High officials of the government, while declining to say what steps would be taken by the United States, declared that the purpose of the government had been explained in the President's speech at Swanton, Penn., and Mobile, Ala. The American government's course of action will be embodied in a formal note which it is expected will set forth the principles that constitutional government alone must be established out of the chaos in Mexico and will suggest means for accomplishing that purpose.

Will Not Recognize Election

Though the state department has not been informed officially of its reported purpose of General Huerta, to declare General Blumquist as having been elected, it is certain that in line with previous declarations of the election of last Sunday will not be recognized as constitutional.

The inability of the United States government to conduct a constitutional election it is thought, will lead the American government to suggest a method of holding the elections in which outside guards and guarantees can be given, which will permit the constitutionalists to participate freely.

Diplomats in general here, believe that before suggestions concerning any election can be carried out the elimination of Huerta from the situation must be accomplished.

It is thought that in much the same way as President Wilson outlined recently to John Lind the points upon which a satisfactory settlement of the trouble in Mexico seemed to be conditioned, he will repeat his suggestions but add the stipulation that someone acceptable to all factions be placed in provisional authority to conduct a fair and free election. Details of an election plan it is thought, would accompany such suggestion.

Decline Huerta Will Not Yield

With the united support of foreign governments, it is thought by some officials here that the retirement of Huerta could be accomplished, though others who know of Huerta's personal attitudes declare he will not yield to any foreign pressure and will settle only if the constitutionalists attain some success. Various alternatives such as moral support for the constitutionalists' cause, or lifting the embargo on arms have been suggested as ways to influence Huerta's retirement.

That some comprehensive plan for dealing with the situation is expected by Europe was apparent today when the character of the representation made by the diplomats at Mexico City to their home governments became known. Although no collective opinion was reached at the present conference of diplomats at the Mexican capital, many of them, it was learned today, criticized the United States severely for not taking such steps as would restore tranquility.

Some suggested intervention in one form or another. The French minister is said to have been among those who roundly criticized the American policy while the Spanish minister is declared to have made caustic reference to the invasion of the rights of the Spanish Nationals while the United States maintained a quiescent attitude.

defense against the accused, asked that if the jury believed the defendant was irresponsible, she be found "not guilty by reason of insanity."

The district attorney's argument occupied three hours.

After Judge Allen had delivered his charge he gave the case into the jury's hands at 6:15, announcing, however, that the jury might first go to supper and both deliberation on the guilt or innocence of Mrs. Eaton at 7:30.

Four Verdicts Possible

In his charge, Chief Justice Allen said there were four verdicts possible. He enumerated them as follows:

Not guilty; not guilty by reason of insanity; guilty of murder in the first degree; guilty of murder in the second degree.

Judge Allen explained that a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity" carried with it "an order from the court committing the prisoner for life to an insane asylum."

In connection with a verdict of "murder in the first degree" the judge said the jury must be satisfied there was deliberate premeditation. He added, "if the defendant's mind is found to be somewhat impaired, yet not so far impaired as not to allow of premeditation, then the verdict should be murder in the second degree."

Judge Allen warned the jury to take into consideration "statements of witnesses including the defendant." He said that Mrs. Eaton's mental capacity should be considered. He continued:

"If a person is incapable of appreciating that an act which he or she is about to commit is wrong, then that person is not responsible criminally."

"If a person's mind is by such a deranged state that the act may be called an uncontrollable impulse that person is not responsible, although he or she may be able to appreciate the not in wrong."

Eaton Case Is Unique

Judge Allen commented upon the fact that the Eaton case is unique in that the government is the party contending that the defendant is of unsound mind. He said it was unusual the defense that claimed insanity. While District Attorney Barker, as a government agent, may have been entitled to bring insanity into his side of the case, Judge Allen said the district attorney was acting wholly within his rights.

Judge Allen said that "malicious intent must be proved but that a motive is not necessary."

"The law raises in the defendant's favor," he said, "the presumption of innocence. This is enough to nullify a verdict of not guilty until it is overcome by the evidence. She is not required to prove herself innocent."

"The charge to the jury followed by the testimony of the defense by District Attorney Barker. 'It is a disgrace to the commonwealth,' he said, 'to introduce the testimony of a convict, Doctor J. W. Brown, that he prescribed arsenic tablets for Admiral Eaton. I heard it a lie. And the same lies have permeated the whole of the defense.'"

The district attorney demanded of the jury that if they found Mrs. Eaton had poisoned her husband while under a hallucination, a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity" should be returned. Then he added:

More Dangerous Than Rattlesnake.

"She is more dangerous than a rattlesnake and there is no telling whom she may hit next if she is allowed her freedom."

In narrowing his argument down to his claim that the victim was not dependent, did not contemplate suicide, and that Mrs. Eaton was the only person who had opportunity to administer fatal arsenic doses, the district attorney explained "poison is a woman's weapon." Then he went on as follows:

"Mrs. Eaton divorced her husband and married Admiral Eaton for his money and when that money was lost playing the stock market, she reached a turning point which led the admiral to a grave in Brazil."

The district attorney scathingly arraigned the defense for "resorting to an attempt to defame the reputation of this old man."

In talking of the alleged mental condition of the accused widow, the prosecutor spoke of Mrs. Eaton's probate counsel, Judge George W. Kelley, of Rockland, saying "he tried to get her into the hands of experts long ago in order that they might take care of her. My heart goes out to the woman in pity."

After tracing the testimony down to the Thursday before the Saturday the admiral died, District Attorney Barker said, Mrs. Eaton came home from her daughter June's home with the threat, 'I will take care of him,' on her lips. "She testified," said the district attorney, "that she tried to get the admiral to sit down and eat another breakfast. Then came the dinner Thursday night and the experts say nature is Boyd. He is counted on to develop into a real star for next year by Coach A. A. Slugg.

that the admiral became sick half an hour after taking the fatal dose. The doctor came and Mrs. Eaton was told to give her husband medicine every two hours. She did while her mother was looking.

Looks Admiral in Room

"Later she locked the poor admiral up in a room alone. Her daughter Dorothy's attempts to administer medicine to the dying man were objected to by Mrs. Eaton. Finally he cried out, 'I want a doctor! I want a doctor!' And Mrs. Eaton said, 'The doctor is coming in the morning,' when she knew the doctor was not coming at all."

"The district attorney here raised his voice as he shouted, 'This woman fed her husband arsenic all day Friday with his medicine and she fed him the poison after he fell out of bed, and she kept feeding it to him up to within two to eight hours of the time he died.'"

It was 7:43 when the jury retired for deliberation after supper. During supper one juror, Seneca T. Watson, was attacked with a slight illness, but after medicine was administered he apparently recovered, and went to the jury room with the others.

Mrs. Eaton had supper at the court room, and it was planned to have her remain there for several hours at least, awaiting a verdict.

Mrs. Eaton was still at the court house with her counsel, William A. Morse and Francis J. Grogan at a late hour. About 10 Judge Allen, learning that the jury was not ready to report, sent word from his hotel that he was prepared to go to the court house to receive the verdict at any hour of the night.

A crowd of 250 people sat in the court room throughout the evening, while as many more loitered about the outside of the building.

It was believed that much of the early deliberations of the jury were devoted to examining the exhibits in the case. These were 55 in number, and included 32 letters by Mrs. Eaton and others, only two of which were typewritten.

PARCEL POST CUTS EXPRESS BUSINESS.

Boston, Oct. 29.—Since the introduction of the parcel post one of the big express companies has lost 40 per cent of its suburban business out of Boston. This fact was submitted as a matter of evidence by the Adams Express company at a hearing before the public service commission today in an effort to ward off another competitor.

The statement was confirmed by representatives of the Ryan Express company, which with the Adams handles the bulk of the business between Boston and Canton. Both companies opposed the admittance to rail road privileges of a third company which is seeking to establish a business in the same territory.

WARNING TO NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES

Political Activity Will Bring
Instant Dismissal, Says
Roosevelt.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Political activity on the part of navy yard employees will not be tolerated in future, Assistant-Secretary Roosevelt announced today. Mr. Roosevelt made public the following telegram he had sent to Capt. DeWitt Coffman, commandant of the Boston yard:

"State Representative Giffin complains William Musgrave, quartermaster, actively opposing his election by violation civil service rules. Investigate at once and notify Musgrave that, whether he is technically violating rules or not, he must avoid slightest appearance partisan activity under penalty of instant dismissal. Political activity in favor of any party on part of workmen in yard will not be tolerated. Report to department at once."

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast
if Your Back Hurts Or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman who eats meat flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish, and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weaknesses.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious complications.

MRS. STANLEY AWARDED A VERDICT OF $8,568.70

Sued the Boston and Maine R. R. for Death of Husband Under the Employees' Liability Act.

Mrs. Idela M. Stanley of Concord, administrator of the estate of her husband George Stanley was awarded a verdict of $8,568.70 against the Boston and Maine railroad by a jury in the United States District Court on Wednesday evening after deliberation of over four hours.

The case is an action for damages brought by Mrs. Stanley the widow of George Stanley a brakeman on the Boston and Maine railroad to recover damages for the loss of her husband following an accident by which he was thrown from a freight train at Myrtle Junction, Sumnerville April 29, 1912 and he had his back broken and he lingered in great pain until July 19 the same year when he died.

The case was brought under the United States employees' liability act and it was the first heard in this court under that act. Stanley who was the rear end brakeman on a freight train between Concord and Boston and was standing on the top of the caboose giving the signal for stop when the train took a sliding at Myrtle Junction. He was thrown or fell from the top of the caboose and received a broken back. It was the content of the complaint that the train was "yanked" which threw Stanley off the top of the car. A rule of the road for all freight trains of over twenty-five cars and the train in question had forty—is that while traveling at less than ten miles an hour and in the act of slowing down shall come to a full stop before the air brakes are released. It was the contention that the engineer of this train failed to do this and as a result the train was yanked and the caboose jerked ahead so violently that Stanley an experienced brakeman had no chance to protect himself.

The case took two entire days and the evidence was all in by two o'clock Wednesday and the closing argument for the railroad was made by Attorney E. K. Woodworth of Concord and for the plaintiff by United States Senator Henry F. Hollis. Judge Aldrich made an extensive charge to the jury who retired at 4.45. They came in at 9.15 with a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $8,568.70 as already stated.

NEW CENTRAL VERMONT HEAD

E. C. Smith of St. Albans Elected to Succeed E. J. Chamberlain.

St. Albans, Vt., Oct. 29.—The retirement of E. J. Chamberlain as president of the Central Vermont Railroad and chairman of its board of directors, and the election of E. C. Smith of this city to succeed him were the features of the annual meeting of the company here today.

The change in the head of the company took place after the stockholders had re-elected the old board of directors.

A BUILDING 500

An incident that shows feeling of brotherhood among birds came to my notice last summer. A colony of crows swallows had determined to build under the eaves of our neighbor's barn. For lack of room there or for some other good reason eight pairs selected a beam under an open shed directly over the stable door.

Our neighbor objected to their choice climbed a ladder and hoed down the offending nests which were near completion. A day or two later he observed the swallows busily at work replacing their wrecked homes. They had fastened half-moons of mud pellets the thickness of one's finger to the places where the first nests had been. Somewhat indignantly our neighbor climbed his ladder a second time and removed the swallow settlement.

The next day he saw swallows flying in and out of the shed and upon looking into the matter he found that the eight pairs had returned and the entire colony from under the eaves with them. They were all hard at work rebuilding the eight nests. There were four or five swallows at work on each nest and scores of little workers were hurrying in with fresh building material.

More than a hundred swallows attended the bee and before the next night the houses were completed and the eight couples were in full possession. Our neighbor thereupon relinquished his right and title to the beam and permitted the swallows to raise their families in peace over his stable door.—Youth's Companion.

TWO YEARS' FOOLING IN SCHOOL

Washington, Oct. 29.—Two years of useful life are lost to every American under existing educational conditions, due to the increasing fads and futilities adopted by the latter-day schools and made part of their compulsory curriculum. This is the finding of a body of eminent educators, headed by Pres. James H. Baker of the University of Colorado, whose report was issued today by the United States Bureau of Education.

"The great mistake in our education is to suppose," says the report, "that quantity and strain constitute education. Education is a question of doing a few essential things well and without overstrain. The college has committed a mistake in demanding ever more in quantity than in quality, produced under condition of health, normal development."

The educators, the bureau officials say, spent ten years investigating conditions, and would have the elementary education of the young occupy six years instead of eight. They would leave the student pass through high school and college as he is prepared either to enter the world at the age of 20, or, if desirous of taking up a profession, enable him to be equipped within two or four years later.

ELEPHANTS IN A TEMPER

An elephant uses several original and effective methods of exterminating its victims. It may rush upon a man seize him in its trunk beat him to death on the ground and before leaving turn up the foliage for yards about.

There are many instances of elephants literally tearing their victims to pieces. The story is told of an English official in Uganda who on noticing a "safara" passing stopped to the door to inquire of the head man the whereabouts of his master. In response the black swung a human arm before the official and replied that a few days previous his master had been torn to pieces by an elephant and that he had brought back the arm in proof of his assertion.

Then again after knocking a man down an elephant will often continue on his course without stopping to learn how much damage it has done. A hunter who was within close proximity of a herd of elephants handed his rifle to the gun bearer and started to climb a tree to look about. At that moment an elephant charged from the tall grass and made for the gun bearer. As the man started to run he threw up his arms and in some manner the elephant in reaching for him snatched the rifle from his hand and stopped to hammer it on the ground while the black made good his escape.—J. Alden Loring in Outing.

NEW POSTAGE STAMP BOOK

Twenty-Four Two Twenty-Four Ones for Seventy-Three Cents.

Washington Oct. 29.—A thousands of postoffice throughout the country there will soon be put on sale a combination postage stamp book. It contains twenty-four two-cent and an equal number of one-cent stamps and the price is 73 cents. The popularity of the old form book of twelve two-cent stamps selling for 25 cents has suggested that the combination of two and one-cent stamps will meet with favor of the public. Instructions to postmasters regarding the sale of the new books were issued from the postoffice department today.

FIRST MOVE TO CLOSE THE SALOONS

Denver, Col., Oct. 29.—The first of the state troops ordered into the strike zone of the Southern Colorado field by Governor Ammons arrived at Trinidad early today. Before nightfall it was expected the entire national guard of Colorado, consisting of more than 1000 men, will be in camp near Trinidad ready to preserve order around the mines. President John McLeannan of the State Federation of Labor has issued a call for a mass meeting to protest against the presence of the militia, declaring all violence there was due to imported mine guards. Early this morning wires between Trinidad and the mining camps were tapped by strikers, who answered all telegraph and telephone calls. It was rumored at Trinidad that Hastings had been captured by the strikers, but the report could not be verified.

Strikers congregated yesterday in great numbers about the Colorado and southern station at Ludlow and at the Alchelon, Topeka & Santa Fe station at Trinidad. They asserted, however, that they had no intention of molesting the troops. Troops from Trinidad entered the mine camps at Berwind, Tabasco and Hastings, where by orders of the military government, the saloons of the district were closed. The nineteenth battle between mine guards and strikers was waged from daylight until eight o'clock last evening in Berwind and Hastings cañons and the hills adjacent. Angus Alexander, a Hastings guard, was killed and seven other persons were wounded, including two children at Tazewell. Four of the strikers were wounded, two seriously.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Oct. 29.—Several members of the faculty of New Hampshire College will take part in the exercises at the Practical Arts exhibit at Pinkerton Academy, Derry, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Thursday evening Prof. J. H. Foster of the department of forestry, will discuss "Possibilities of the New England Wood Lot for the Small Farmer." Miss Helen B. Thompson, professor of home economics, will speak on "The Educational Value of Home Economics" Friday afternoon. The other New Hampshire College speaker will be Assistant Professor H. V. Mitchell, whose subject is "Making Good with Poultry."

Dr. Edward S. Cowles of Portsmouth an alumnus, spoke at the chapel exercises today. His subject was, psychology, and he gave an explanation, which interested the students greatly, of the latest developments in the treatment of the mental diseases due in large part to the discoveries of Sigmund Freud.

Dr. Cowles pointed out that only within the last five years has there been much real progress and but one or two universities in America have established schools for the investigation of the cure by the mind of mental diseases. He scored the present large insane asylums, where nothing is done or is expected to be done of a curative nature, though in many cases cure could be effected.

INDIRECT DRESS REFORMS

Reform in women's dress like many other things feminine may come by indirection. The crase for the tango is calling for a different type of footwear. This new social rite is best performed in a heelless slipper. Such a slipper is discovered is good for general wear. Thus the narrow pinching shoe and the high heel will be helped to make an exit. Coincidentally the divided skirt and even trousers are receding and comfort. A prominent athletic young woman in the east has organized a polo club among her mates and the team will play in breeches. The influence of sport on costume is well known and all women who are determined on liberation will see one more path opening to the goal. Truly betterment often comes by a zig-zag route. Reform promoters once again to enter by a side door.—Chicago Record Herald.

BLOOD KILLS 54 SALVADOREANS

Many Districts in Republic Inundated and Further Loss of Life is Feared. San Salvador, Oct. 29.—Fifty-four deaths from drowning were reported here today from districts of the republic of Salvador, inundated by a rainfall of unprecedented severity lasting throughout Monday and Tuesday, and it is feared that many more have succumbed. In this city four were drowned, and the village of Ver-

UNCLE SAM DEALS IN OLD GOLD

There is a real electrolytic refinery in Wall street, New York city, small in size, it is true, but very big in the value of its output. This is the United States assay office.

The relation between the assay office and the public is twofold. First, the assay office buys impure gold and gold-silver alloys from the public. This may be the gold output of a copper refinery or of a cyanide mill or gold scrap from dentists, or gold imported from Europe, or old jewelry. Second, the assay office refines gold and alloys for the various requirements of the public.

The metallurgical process carried out at the assay office is, therefore, the separation of the gold from the silver and the other metal impurities and the production of the metals in pure form.

Fortunately the sulphuric acid parting process was employed, but the electrolytic refining process has now been universally introduced into the United States mints, and when a few years ago the New York assay office was damaged by fire and it became necessary to rebuild and reequip the office thoroughly, it was decided to introduce electrolytic refining. The new equipment is thoroughly up to date.

In buying gold or gold alloys from the public, the assay office has fixed only two restrictions. These are that the material shall contain not less than 20 per cent of gold and silver and shall be worth at least $100.—Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering.

NEW TYPE OF LIFEBOAT

A successful demonstration of the Fisher lifeboat, a new craft which has just been completed in a Liverpool shipyard, took place in the Mersey Docks recently. The lifeboat, which is the invention of Mr. Fisher, a New Zealander, is constructed of steel in the shape of a cylinder, and it is claimed to be non-capsizeable, and unsinkable. The boat is completely covered in, and it is stated that it has a carrying capacity double that of ordinary lifeboats, and that it can be launched on an even keel without difficulty. It is a great success.—London Post.

BRITISH GUNS FIRING AT $500,000,000 TARGET.

London Oct. 29.—318 guns bombarding a target in the shape of the old battleship Empress of India the most costly ever fired at is being watched today by Mr. Winston Spencer Churchill M. P. of Portland. The powerful armor of the Empress of India will make the gunnery test one of the greatest importance. Twenty years ago this battleship cost $500,000 and only recently she was ranked as a first-class battleship.

Mr. Samuel Schultz, who has a scene and mural painting studio at Wilmington, in Delaware has won despite a lifetime in painting subjects in heroic size the unique distinction of having made the smallest landscape painting in the world.

This picture was executed on a grain of corn and the painter has only now recovered it after having lost possession of it for more than forty years. Having lost track of the picture which he made in 1869 when he was only nineteen years old Schultz decided recently to try to recover it.

He advertised, in several foreign newspapers with the result that the tiny landscape came to him in its original frame a few days ago the painting in color and line being as sharp and clear as on the day of its execution.

The particular grain of corn used came from an ear that Mr. Schultz as a lad picked on the estate of James Buchanan fifteenth President of the United States at Wheatland Pa. He had gone there to attend the ex-president's funeral and plucked the ear of corn as a souvenir. As for the picture itself a well known artist who saw it many years ago declared it was a masterpiece of miniature painting.—Tit-Bits.

CAUSE OF ZEPPELIN WRECK

Berlin, Oct. 29.—The explosion of the dirigible Zeppelin 1, which on Oct. 17 cost the lives of twenty-eight officers and men of the navy and army, composing the entire crew, is attributed in the official report on the disaster to a partial vacuum formed in the centre gondola behind a new kind of windshield. This was used for the first time on the ill-fated ship for the better protection of the crew, and it sucked the gas escaping from beneath the aluminum structure of the dirigible into the gondola where it was exploded by a spark from the motor. The possibility of such an action was overlooked by the Zeppelin constructors and the naval aeronautics experts, and it has now been decided that the shield shall not be used in the future.

THAW DOCUMENTS CHANGED ABOUT

Concord, N. H., Oct. 29.—Careful examination of the new petition by the State of New York for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw, as filed at the office of the Secretary of State in this city reveals some changes in wording from the original petition, which Thaw counsel are unable to understand.

The new petition states that it appears "by the papers required by the signatures of the United States" (a phrase), that Thaw stands charged with a crime for which the State of New York "requires" instead of "requests" as in the original petition that he be delivered over to its authorities.

The first petition was in exactly the form prescribed by an agreement among the states of many years standing. The new document departs from the usual form in the particular named. It is also pointed out that the new petition bears the privy seal of Gov. Glynn instead of the Great Seal of the State of New York, although it does not appear that this affects the standing of the document in any way.

When You Want a Thing Done Right, Do It Yourself

The man who wants his tobacco cut up for him months before he smokes it, just to save a minute's time, cannot blame the manufacturer because the tobacco gets dried up, burns fast in his pipe and scorches his tongue.

There's only one way to get fresh tobacco—cut it up yourself as you use it, from the Sickle plug. Then you get all the original flavor and moisture that have been pressed into the plug and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper—and you are rewarded by a cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

Every day more smokers are coming back to the good old Sickle plug and satisfaction. Buy a plug of Sickle at your dealer's and note how much more tobacco you get, when there's no package to pay for.

FOR PORTSMOUTH AND PORTSMOUTH'S INTERESTS

Editorial 28 | Business 37

Portsmouth, N. H., Thursday, October 30, 1913.

Fire Don'ts.

The time of the year has again arrived when the fire fiend generally gets in his work. The following don'ts if strictly observed will heat him at his own game.

Don't go into closets looking for clothing with a lighted match.

Don't kindle fires in stoves with kerosene.

Don't put hot ashes and coals in wooden barrels or boxes.

Don't thaw out frozen water pipes with a torch or lamp.

Don't allow waste paper, excelsior, and rubbish to collect.

Don't use gasoline for cleaning in a closed room.

Don't look for gas leaks with a match or lamp.

Don't allow oily rags near stoves or about the premises.

Don't allow sawdust to be used in cuspidors or on floors.

Don't throw waste paper in a fire-place.

Don't throw cigarets or cigars away if lighted.

Don't keep matches in paper boxes or lying about carelessly.

Don't use snapping parlor matches. Tabor them.

Don't forget that matches are the beginning of many conflagrations.

Don't hang your clothing near open fires or stoves.

Don't fill lamps after dark and never when lighted.

Don't allow rubbish in hallways or in fire escapes.

Don't burn leaves or dead grass on windy days.

Don't forget to have the chimneys of your home cleaned.

Don't fail to look twice at everything that looks like fire.

Arsenic.

A certain morbid interest attaches to all poisons, the greater, the more deadly the drug. The Eaton case has drawn especial attention to arsenic both as a medicine and deadly poison. Excepting possibly the bicloride of mercury, few toxic substances are so common, for the arsenates and arsenites are not only much used in medicine, but are likely to be encountered in commercial substances, wallpaper, dye stuffs, etc. Arsenic has been known since ancient times. The word means masculine or powerful. In the sixteenth century it was used for homicidal purposes in the form of aqua tofana, and in literature has been the most celebrated of poisons. Although considered one of the most powerful poisons, it is less so in its ordinary forms than potassium cyanide and the alkaloids, though in combination with hydrogen it becomes one of the deadliest substances known, the slightest whiff of the gas being sufficient to insure death. In the common form, the trioxide, or "white arsenic," one to two grains cause death.—Boston Herald.

Drinking Water on Trains.

A report from Washington says one of the great railroads of the country has been serving "diluted sewage" in the guise of drinking water. These investigators have opened a great field for reform. The location of the water tanks in many passenger coaches is such as to occasion disgust if nothing more. The surroundings of the tank and the thoughts of how it must have been filled are enough to discourage a traveler unless thirst proves unendurable. Ice is applied directly to the water instead of to coils. This ice, moved by many hands, is often stacked up on dirty platforms. In times of special hurry it is not even given a bath with a hose, but laden with dirt, is thrown into a receptacle. The tanks are filled at various points along the way if the journey of the car is a long one.—Detroit News.

Affairs in Cuba.

Cuba raised more sugar cane than ever this year and about as much grain. The latter is a hardy perennial and just now the Cubans are harvesting another crop. Their statesmen refuse to meet to act on President Menocal's proposition for a new foreign loan of $15,000,000. The congress is responsible for the present situation in the island and to straighten out affairs will be a severe test of the president's ability. It again looks as if he would need Uncle Sam's help and if Uncle Sam goes to Cuba again it will be to stay.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

Newspapers Indicate the Thrift of a City.

The advertiser, while benefiting himself, helps his city. A city in which the business men advertise liberally in the newspapers is always a live one. The merchants who use printers' ink are always the progressive spirits of the place, and deserve the patronage of the community they help support and push forward. Deal with the business man whose advertisement you see in the newspaper and you will make no mistake.

The Unlucky Number.

The man who believes in thirteen being an unlucky number certainly has some reason for his belief when this year is considered, at least from a corn production standpoint.

General Opposing Huerta and Two Men Imprisoned by Federals

GENERAL CARRANZA, EVARISTO MADERO, BENJAMIN MADERO.
General Carranza has become one of the leading opponents of President Huerta of Mexico. He has a large following among the soldiers. The imprisonment of Evaristo and Benjamin Madero has added new fuel to the revolutionary flames. Many people believe that these two relatives of the late President Madero will never be seen again. They were arrested at the order of President Huerta.

M'COY CHARGED WITH MURDER

The two girls are married daughters of McCoy by his first wife, long since dead. He married the woman whose body was found in the parlor, about three years ago.

Shoots Self in Hand.

Arriving at the farm house, the girls lingered at the gate in fear, and Chase approached the house. Looking through a kitchen window he saw McCoy kneeling on the floor, revolver in hand. When the man inside saw Chase at the window he put the weapon to his head and pulled the trigger. Then he looked over into the floor, blood streaming over his features.

At the sound of the shot, the girls screamed and ran toward the house. Chase rushed to the door and took the gun from the limp hand of the fallen man. The girls hastened to find material with which to bind their father's wounds.

One of them went to the parlor, which was darkened by drawn curtains. This was not unusual, as it was the custom to keep the front room darkened. Crouching about hurriedly in search of a piece of cloth, she reached the couch. Her hand encountered a human form and she recoiled with a stifled scream.

Find Woman's Remains.

Her sister and Chase, attracted by the sound, hastened to her side. The body of McCoy's wife was then discovered. It was apparent at a glance that the woman had been dead for a long time.

Dr. Edward Hyde of Pelham was called. After attending to the wound in McCoy's head, he turned his attention to the woman. That she had been killed in cold blood seemed certain. One bullet had torn its way through her breast, reaching the heart. Another had punctured her clothing but had not evidently been stayed by a corset steel. It lay on her chest but had not punctured the flesh.

An autopsy was held tonight by Assistant Medical Examiner C. E. Gossage and Drs. H. C. Smith and Samuel Dearborn, all of Nashua. On the outcome of this conference depends what will be done with McCoy. At midnight none of the doctors had made any statement.

It was learned that McCoy, upon receiving from his attempt at self-destruction, claimed his wife died as a result of a fall last Sunday. He could not explain the presence of the bullets in her body.

reason that he could never be confirmed.

It will be seen by this time that Hollis will hold the whip hand over Reed in this respect and that it is quite likely that any candidate for postmaster who does not have the Hollis endorsement in any of the big offices will not stand much of a chance of winning out. This will doubtless be one of the ways taken by Hollis to punish Reed, and to help build up an organization in the first district that will endeavor to defeat him at the primaries next September.

The Dover fight which is the opening gun of the Hollis-Reed patronage feud, is already warm. "Alfie" White, the Reed candidate has been in Manchester several times.

In Conference With the Congressman.
The close friends of Hollis here in Concord say that there will be nothing to it, and that Sherry will surely walk away with the plum when the time comes.

If Hollis should insist in carrying out this plan it is believed here that he will, then it will only leave Reed a few of the minor presidential offices, such as Raymond, Spilling, Farmington, Conway and small places of this kind, and would practically make him a nonentity as far as postoffice patronage is concerned, and would result in Hollis' building a political machine in the first district that will make Reed sit up and take notice.

This is said to be the desire of Hollis to not only try and encompass the defeat of Reed at the primaries, but also for the purpose of aiding his friend and roommate, Congressman Raymond R. Stevens, in the fight for senator in the primaries.

In the second district, Hollis and Stevens will "kiss drives" and put together and there will be no friction over the appointment of any of the postmasters, and Hollis will do everything possible to aid Stevens in his future ambitions.

LET THE GOOD WORK GO ON.

On complaint of Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Peter Smith, Fred Wright was arrested and ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs, on a charge of shooting a gray squirrel near Collins park at Concord. This is the first case of the kind dealt with since the passage of the ordinance which defines the illicitly settled parts of the city in giving protection to gray squirrels.

WILL MOVE TO BOSTON.

The office equipments of the Eastern Oil and Rendering Co. are being removed from the new bank building to Boston, where hereafter the business of the company will be transacted.

STILL ALARM.

The auto chemical crew was called out this Thursday noon to extinguish a blaze in an ash barrel at a house on Pleasant street, that had just been vacated.

These are delightful October days—when it does not rain.

CAUSES STIR IN CAMP OF THAW

Lawyer Alleged to Have Said He Would Go Back if Jerome Gave Pledge.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 29.—As the result of a statement made by a leading Thaw lawyer today, the camp of the fugitive has been thrown into confusion.

It was given out from seeming authentic sources, that Thaw's lawyers would permit him to go back to New York to answer to the indictment against him if Jerome would publicly promise not to recommit him to Malteswan by underhand methods.

From the same source it was learned that Thaw's lawyers had decided to demand a public hearing on the question of bad faith on the part of Jerome and that the presence of the "Newsmen" himself would be demanded at the trial.

Shortly after the statement had been made public Merrill Shurtleff, one of the leading Thaw lawyers, was called upon to confirm it. He refused to do so and said he would never consent to return Thaw to New York no matter what Jerome might promise.

"You might as well put him in his coffin as to send him back to that state," answered Mr. Shurtleff. In regard to the matter of a public hearing on the question of Jerome's faith he said that to his knowledge nothing had been decided.

As a result of this widely diverse opinion there is an open rupture it is said between the attorneys who have been engaged in preparing the new brief which is to be presented to Governor Feltner on Tuesday next. A consultation had been advised at which time Thaw will try to find out who gave out the statements which he says are false.

Mr. Shurtleff of the Thaw force gave out a long interview today concerning a change in the form of the extradition papers, saying that the fact was a surprising one to him and that he was entirely in the dark concerning it. The introductory sentence of the first paragraph of the new papers filed Tuesday, reads:

"Whereas it appears by the papers required by the statutes of the United States, which are hereto annexed, etc." In the papers filed on Sept. 12, the clause referring to the United States is entirely omitted. Another fact commented upon by the Thaw attorneys is that while the petition of Sept. 12 bore the signature of Carl Voegel, deputy secretary of state, the new petition is signed by Governor Glynn and the secretary, the name of either the secretary of state or his deputy being omitted.

NAVY YARD NEWS

A meeting of the Sullivan County railroad was held in the directors' room at the railroad station, Concord on Wednesday.

While the men of the Southern Division Boston & Maine are pleased with the advance of Superintendent John Bonke and Trainmaster F. H. Flynn, they regret the loss of such good officials in that division.

Since October 1, car shops have taken orders for over 12,000 cars, as well as 3000 or more underframes for trailers, requiring altogether 150,000 tons of steel.

It is understood that Western Railroad employees will ask 10 per cent increase in wages with time and a half for Sunday and overtime work, and changes in rules governing seniority.

At the annual meeting of the Central Vermont Railway yesterday, Hon. Edward C. Smith was chosen president in place of B. J. Chamberlain, head of the Grand Trunk. Mr. Chamberlain will continue as chairman of the Central Vermont, representing its controlling interest. Mr. Smith who is an ex-governor of Vermont, has for years heretofore been a director of Central Vermont and was president of the road before it was reorganized in 1911.

The Pullman Co. has notified Chairman Elliott of the New Haven board, that by December 31, 1913, every Pullman car in use anywhere on the Connecticut lines will be all-steel or of steel underframe and steel construction. At present about 80 per cent are of steel construction. All of sleeping, combination and observation cars in use on the New Haven will be all-steel or steel underframe by Saturday of this week.

SUPERIOR COURT.

The contested will case of Francis L. Beckman of Seabrook is still occupying the attention of the superior court and it is expected that the case will not be finished before late Friday. With the resumption of court on Monday the Bunker will case will be heard and it is expected that jury trials will occupy the whole of next week's session. The date for the arraignment of the criminals has not yet been decided upon.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. It has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. A. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y., months.

CURRENT OPINION

WHAT EFFICIENCY IS NOT

Efficiency is not a new name for an old truth, so far as it relates to industry and to individual success. It is an absolutely new point of view in the business world.

It is not Expert Accounting, for the reason that accounting deals only with records and not with methods.

It is not Energy, for the reason that misdirected saving is often the most suicidal of all business policies.

It is not Energy, for the reason that misdirected energy is the most universal of all industrial wastes.

It is not Slave-driving, for the reason that one of its main benefits is to elevate and profit the wage-workers, not to degrade or oppress them.

And it is not System, for the reason that the most useless and wasteful actions can be done in the most systematic way. There can easily be too much system, but there can never be too much Efficiency.

Efficiency means more net. This little word of three letters—N-E-T, has in recent years become the most important word in the vocabulary of business. Net means not how much money you took in, but how much you have left. If you take in three million dollars and pay out the same amount, you have no net at all. It is better to take in one dollar and have ten cents left, than to take in ten dollars and have only five cents left.

It is the NET that decides whether or not we are winning or losing, in the game of business. Gross receipts may pile up as high as a mountain, and yet at the end of the year there may be no residue of profit. It is not volume of business that makes net. Neither is it system nor energy nor resources. It is all these, PLUS EFFICIENCY.

Consequently, there is no other subject, just at the present crisis, in our industrial evolution, that is attracting such keen interest as Efficiency. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being spent by railroads and other corporations to cut down the wastes and losses that arise from slipshod management. Cities and even states have employed experts to teach them the methods of Efficiency; and even the Federal Government has a President's Commission on Economy and Efficiency.—Herbert N. Casson, in the American Review or Reviews.

DR. COWLES TALKS AT DURHAM

Lectures Before Faculty and Student Body on Mental Disorders.

Dr. Edward S. Cowles of Portsmouth, specialist in nervous and mental disorders, lectured yesterday in the faculty and student body of the New Hampshire Agricultural College, by invitation of President Patchell.

Dr. Cowles traced briefly the development of psychotherapy and pointed out the wonderful relief that is brought to thousands of chronic sufferers by this modern method of treatment. He made it clear that hypnosis is now entirely unnecessary in the treatment of any disorder, in fact that the mode of treatment is the very reverse of hypnotism. Diagnosing the cause, finding the cause, and removing this cause by analysis is the keynote to the modern method.

He showed that ninety per cent of all stomach and intestinal disorders are the result of a disturbance in the nervous system, and can never be permanently cured by any amount of treatment of the stomach or of the intestines, but that the cause must be looked for in the nervous system and removed. When it is removed, relief comes to the patient almost instantly and he is not only helped temporarily but seems to grow permanently stronger and healthier. Thousands of people in the United States today, suffering from symptoms that seem to be entirely physical: stomach disorders, heart disturbances and intestinal troubles, as well as nervous prostration, fears, etc., can be permanently cured by this modern method of treatment in an incredibly short time.

Dr. Cowles then spoke of the examination of school children. He criticized severely the haphazard manner in which many of these examinations are now conducted, and pointed out that in some cities the school physicians have turned the examination of the pupils' eyes, ears, and throats over to the teachers, who are absolutely unfit to do the work. He said that every pupil should be carefully examined by a competent physician, not only for his physical condition, but a careful examination should also be made of his nervous and mental condition; that the Simon Binet tests should be used to determine the mental development of these little and the grade of work to be given him; that it is now known that thousands of our children are made inefficient for their life's work because of the lack of care and protection that could be given them as a result of careful examination of their cases in the beginning.

It was when Dr. Cowles spoke of dementia praecox that he most deeply interested his audience. He told them that this disease is a form of insanity which develops in the boy or girl between the ages of ten and thirty; that it is not a physical, but a mental disease due to a shut-in personality, and when it becomes well established it is regarded as hopelessly incurable. This disease seems to develop in the middle boy or girl; the boy or girl who shows the largest amount of responsibility, becomes sensitive, over-conscious, etc., is the one who usually develops this disease. But Dr. Cowles assured his audience that if the schools had a proper system of examination whereby each child's mental and physical condition were carefully looked into by a competent physician once a year, this disease could be detected in time and given proper treatment; and at least 90 per cent of these cases could be saved from the insane asylums by means of this simple precaution, and the State saved thousands of dollars annually for their maintenance.

Dr. Cowles then spoke briefly of the modern treatment of insanity. He said that more progress had been made in the last five years in the treatment of the insane than in all preceding generations; that insane patients are treated more humanely; that those who are incurable should be made as happy as possible; and for those who are not incurable special treatment is given to bring about cures; that the insane asylums, detention houses, will be done away with and that cottages will be established, patients classified, a sufficient number of physicians provided, and definite treatment instituted for the cure of these patients; that a large percentage of our insane can be permanently cured, if properly cared for and treated.

Dr. Cowles said that there was an awakening everywhere to these modern scientific and educational matters, and that he hoped New Hampshire, as his adopted state, would take the most rank among the states of the nation in these proven scientific reforms.

THE FIGHT IS GETTING WARM

Commission to Hear Discrimination Charges Against Telephone Company.

Vice President Adams of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, in a petition to the Massachusetts public Service Commission relative to alleged discrimination by the New England Telephone Co., against the Postal Co., in favor of the Western Union, asks the commission to make an order directing the American Telephone Co., which controls the New England Telephone Co., to dispose of its interests in the stock of the Western Union, and withdraw its representatives from the board of directors and official staff of the Western Union Co., and treat both telegraph companies hereafter impartially without discrimination.

The Public Service Commission has set the hearing for Friday morning. The Postal Co. charges that the Bell Co., two or three years ago, started out on a comprehensive campaign to deprive the Postal of its business by diverting the business to the Western Union. The Postal Co., the petition states, has made frequent complaints to the New England Telephone Co., of instances of discrimination in favor of the Western Union. The complaints they contend have been practically disregarded, so that the Postal Co. feels obliged to appeal to the commission.

The Postal Co., the petition further says, feels the nearest approach to a remedy is the order made by the Public Service Commission of Missouri on Sept. 2, 1913 which requires the telephone company to give telephone numbers to telegraph companies and cease allowing the use of distinctive words in calling the telegraph companies, such as "Western Union" and "Postal."

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Portsmouth Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed, to be entirely free from annoying dangerous, urinary disorders, is enough to make and kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Portsmouth readers.

Mrs. John M. Smart, 122 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Eight or nine years ago I began to suffer from pains in the small of my back which at times changed to a dull grinding ache and if I overexerted my suffering was intensified. I felt tired nearly all the time and had but little energy. Involving reason to believe that my kidneys were disordered, I began trying various remedies, but without success, until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy. The contents of two boxes improved my condition in every way."

B. F. KEITH TAKES A YOUNG BRIDE

Vaudeville Magnate Weds Ethel Bird Chase of Washington.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Benjamin F. Keith of Brookline, Mass., head of a big chain of vaudeville houses, who recently took over Chase's new theatre in this city, was married here tonight to Miss Ethel Bird Chase, daughter of P. H. Chase from whom Mr. Keith purchased his local playhouse. Mr. Keith is 67 years old; his bride is 26.

The marriage took place aboard Mr. Keith's private yacht, the Nalmegoka, lying in the Potomac river, near Washington barracks. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Keith, sailed from Miami, Fla., where they will spend the winter.

Met a Year Ago

The wedding was the culmination of a romance begun a year ago. Mr. Keith first met his bride at her father's home in this city when he began negotiations to purchase Chase's Theatre. Since then they have been seen together quite often.

At four o'clock this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Keith attended the wedding of Harold Beverly Chase, Mrs. Keith's brother, to Miss Ruth Caroline Cohen, eldest daughter of Meyer Cohen, a prominent local lawyer. The wedding party went to Mr. Keith's yacht where they were witnesses to the Keith-Chase marriage. The Rev. U. C. B. Pierce, chaplain of the United States senate, performed the ceremony.

A wedding dinner followed at which Mr. Keith changed the name of his yacht to Hildesheim, which is spelled by using the letters of his wife's first two names. Paul Keith, son of the theatrical man, was summoned by wire from Boston yesterday. He thought his father wanted him here on business, but when he arrived he could not find his father and knew nothing of the wedding until told by newspaper men. Mr. Keith had been a widower.

ABUNDANCE OF DEER

Reported in Grafton and Carroll Counties, Where Season Opens on Saturday.

Sportsmen are making preparations for the opening of the hunting season in New Hampshire. The open season for deer commences Saturday in Grafton and Carroll counties and continues until Dec. 15. It has been permissible to shoot deer in Coos since Oct. 15 and Commissioner Frank J. Bell says that more deer have been killed in that county since the season opened than during the first days of the open season for many years.

The commission has issued hundreds of hunting licenses to non-residents. Throughout Grafton and Carroll counties deer have been seen in unusually large numbers all fall. The failure of the apple crop has brought them nearer civilization in quest of food than is usual and gunners who come early are sure to find abundant game.

In Sullivan, Cheshire, Hillsboro, Merrimack, Belknap, Strafford and Rockingham counties deer may be shot during the first 15 days of December only. In Hillsboro, Merrimack, Belknap, Strafford and Rockingham deer may be killed only with shotguns loaded with a single ball or loose buckshot. A person may kill two deer in Coos, Grafton and Carroll and one only in Rockingham. In Strafford, Belknap, Hillsboro, Cheshire, Merrimack and Sullivan, hunting with dogs, traps, snares or snares is prohibited.

Who will succeed Mr. Fosgate as assistant train master of this division is not known as yet.

ERRORS MADE BY ENGLAND

Manchester Guardian Scores Foreign Office for Mistakes in Mexico.

London, Oct. 29.—The Manchester Guardian in an editorial on Mexico says:

"We have not been over successful in our handling of a very delicate situation. Our recognition of Huerta was originally due to a misunderstanding. We wanted to get with the United States and the United States ambassador thought the United States meant to recognize him. Having ascertained that the United States meant to recognize him, we have been forced to recognize him. The United States on the question of recognition it behooved our diplomacy to be very wary. But the new British ambassador Sir Lionel Carden most unfortunately prevented credentials on the day on which Huerta arrested 100 members of his Parliament. Still more unfortunately he was made to interview which have repudiated to express critical opinions on America's policy in Mexico. And worst of all there is a struggle going on behind the political scene between the Standard Oil and Lord Cowdray's company, which has contracts for the supply of oil for the British navy."

Discussing President Wilson's speech at Philadelphia the Guardian says that if the President means no more than that the United States should refuse to recognize a Government which is "stained with blood" etc. he is more than justified and then it points out how the European Powers boycotted the Serbian Government for a whole year after the murder of the last Obrenovitch king. It goes on:

"The United States may surely do

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girl Try This! Makes Hair Thick, Glossy, Fluffy, Beautiful—No More Itching Scalp

Within ten minutes after an application of Dandruff, you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff, or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first, yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Dandruff immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle or scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Dandruff and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from many drug store or local counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandruff.

FEMININE FANCIES.

Chantilly Lace.

In the color charts belonging to many who read this page are preserved the chantilly lace shawls and scarfs that once belonged to honored ancestors. Why allow them to lie unused through the years when you can utilize them in many ways without destroying their beauty or cutting the lace?

For instance, a lovely mantlet can be easily fashioned from a shawl of the three-cornered variety in this manner: Carefully line the lace with black, gray or white chiffon or mousseline de soie, attaching it to the lace by hand. Now place the shawl over the shoulders and allow the point to fall nearly to the knees, and draw the two pointed ends in front to a uniform length below the waist line. The kimono-like sleeves are formed by joining the edges of the lace beneath the arms, and the fullness is confined about the waist with a narrow girde of twisted black ribbon velvet, which serves to fasten the coat in front.

If the shawl is a large, square one, line it with mousseline and place it over the shoulders. Draw the lace gracefully to form the sleeves and swallow it about the figure, pinning each fold in position.

When the desired result is obtained take a needle and thread and sew the lace where the pins have been removed. Clasp the mantle at the left side with an ornament of jet.

Many of the housewifely evening gowns have tunic of black or white chantilly lace, and the bolero may be used to advantage for this purpose.

After the foundation of white or black satin is completed, then drape the shawl to form the tunic.

The wide scarf of lace can be successfully utilized in fashion the undress "house" or "household" tunic. Gather or pleat the scarf along the upper edge and draw it about the waist line. A girde of velvet or silk is then fitted about the waist, and if narrow, the lace is allowed to extend above the girde to form a trim.

To make the tunic shorter in front than at the back, run several horizontal tucks across the front by hand.

If desired, a thin wire may be neatly slipped into the extreme edge of the tunic on the under side, which enables it to stand beyond the foundation in crinoline fashion.

Do not, in this season of lace tunics and wraps, rousen your hair from its slumber to the dark depths of a cedar chest.

Autumn Fashions.

A charming frock is of black and white voile in polka dot design. It is trimmed with black satin, which forms a deep hem above the bottom of the skirt. There is a quaint heading of the black at the waistline, and the bolero has a soft, fluffy ruffle of maline suggesting a Mollie line.

One of the new full length sleeves has a chiffon panel extending from the shoulder to the elbow. Another sleeve has bands of drawwork running from just below the shoulder to the elbow.

The big sack, which in some cases might be called a tunic, is becoming more important all the time. On some of the latest dresses it is entirely different in fabric and color from the rest of the costume. Big, bright plaids are used, also light or dark grounds on which are patterned big spots, circles, scrolls, etc., while some of the more elaborate costumes have a hand-painted sash.

Gloves of chambray finished cotton or silk are as modish for the small son as for the daughter. They come in white or chambray color.

Black tailored hose made of velvet are worn, but in front but at the back of this week's fashions, finished with a fringe, extend quite to the waist line.

If You Want to Look Nice.

Remember that in dressing it is not by any means always the person

UNITED STATES SENDS NOTE TO GREAT POWERS

Washington, Oct. 29.—Sec. Bryan said today that a formal note had been sent to all the European Governments asking them to suspend the formulation of a policy toward Mexico until the United States had defined its attitude.

While England, France and Germany, he said, had already been heard from, it is expected that the other Governments will follow the three great Powers in awaiting the decision of the United States as to the next step in bringing peace in Mexico.

President Wilson had an early conference with Secretary Bryan today, and the secretary stated afterwards that they were at work on the next step in the policy that will be pursued.

It is expected that the United States will first make formal demand for the elimination of Huerta and the conduct of fair and free elections, possibly with some safeguards to systematize the election machinery.

There was absolutely no comment forthcoming however, from executive quarters as to just what was intended by the United States but it was generally agreed in official circles that some positive action looking toward a solution of the problem would be in line with the expectations of the powers.

Steps to secure a new election would involve negotiations with the Constitutionalists and there is a confidence among Administration officials that it guaranteed that a free campaign can be arranged through the establishment of a provisional authority at Mexico City, acceptable to the Constitutionalists the latter are likely to fall into line.

Secretary Bryan said that the State Department had not yet decided what disposition would be made of Gen. Felix Diaz and his fellow refugees on board the United States battleship Louisiana had come from Washington this morning to John Lind, the personal representative of Secs. Wilson, Consul W. Canada, or Rear Admiral Fletcher.

The fugitives slept well last night, but this morning expressed some anxiety as to their eventual disposition. No sign of protest against the granting of an asylum to the refugees or board an American warship has been made by the Mexican authorities.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 29.—No advice as to what is to be done with Felix Diaz and his fellow refugees on board the United States battleship Louisiana had come from Washington this morning to John Lind, the personal representative of Secs. Wilson, Consul W. Canada, or Rear Admiral Fletcher.

DISPOSITION OF DIAZ

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 29.—No advice as to what is to be done with Felix Diaz and his fellow refugees on board the United States battleship Louisiana had come from Washington this morning to John Lind, the personal representative of Secs. Wilson, Consul W. Canada, or Rear Admiral Fletcher.

Roosevelt spent several hours yesterday inspecting industries of various kinds. He paid a visit to the works of the Anglo-Braslian Iron Company of which his son Kermit is an official, and displayed much interest in an iron bridge which was constructed under his son's supervision.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 29.—Theodore Roosevelt left this city at 8.30 last evening for Rio Grande do Sul, from which place he will continue his journey by way of Montevideo to Buenos Aires and Chilli.

Government officials and private persons cheered the distinguished American visitor as he left Sao Paulo.

KEEL OF PENNSYLVANIA LAID

First plates of the keel of the super dreadnought Pennsylvania, which completed two years hence will be the largest and most powerful fighting machine in the world were laid at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, unlike similar events in the past, the work was started without ceremony and even without the knowledge of local representatives of the navy department. The Pennsylvania is being laid down on the same stocks from which the dreadnought Texas, now on her official trial was launched eighteen months ago. Through laying of the keel began yesterday, much work has been done on the giant craft. Some of the huge frames already have been prepared, and soon hundreds of mechanics and laborers will be working on the hull. The Pennsylvania will be 625 feet long over all and will have a beam of 97 feet and a draft of 32 feet. Her full load displacement will be 32,500 tons, or 3500 gross tons greater than the superdreadnoughts Oklahoma and Nevada. Twelve 14-inch breech loading rifles are to make up the main battery of the ship. Her speed will be 21 knots an hour and she will be equipped with turbine engines, supplied with steam from boilers with oil burners. The total cost of the vessel, with armor and armament, will be about $19,000,000.

NOT TO PROSECUTE MRS. RAND

Dublin, Oct. 29.—The dropping of the prosecution of Mrs. Lucille Rand a daughter of ex-Governor Henry T. Gage, of California formerly United States minister to Portugal and of Mrs. Dora Montefiore a London philanthropist was virtually decided on today when the case against them on a charge of kidnapping Irish children came up before the police magistrate here. The two women had taken a leading part in arranging for the children of the Irish transport workers to be transferred to England to be cared for there during the continuance of the strike here which started early in September. Their efforts were opposed by the Catholic clergy who objected to the children being sent to Protestant homes. At the hearing today the attorney for the defendants explained that the women's action had been misunderstood. There was he said a touch of humor in charging them with kidnapping when they were really on an errand of mercy. They had not committed any crime he declared but had perhaps acted indiscreetly. The attorney general for Ireland then consented to an adjournment of the case for a month.

Dublin, Oct. 29.—The dropping of the prosecution of Mrs. Lucille Rand a daughter of ex-Governor Henry T. Gage, of California formerly United States minister to Portugal and of Mrs. Dora Montefiore a London philanthropist was virtually decided on today when the case against them on a charge of kidnapping Irish children came up before the police magistrate here. The two women had taken a leading part in arranging for the children of the Irish transport workers to be transferred to England to be cared for there during the continuance of the strike here which started early in September. Their efforts were opposed by the Catholic clergy who objected to the children being sent to Protestant homes. At the hearing today the attorney for the defendants explained that the women's action had been misunderstood. There was he said a touch of humor in charging them with kidnapping when they were really on an errand of mercy. They had not committed any crime he declared but had perhaps acted indiscreetly. The attorney general for Ireland then consented to an adjournment of the case for a month.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTORS MAKING GOOD AS MILLINERS

New York, Oct. 29.—Tears and shears mingled today on the decks of the giant Imperator of the Hamburg-American Line, which arrived from Hamburg. Indignation flowed in streams, which were damped by the customs men as they stopped of all-grettes and birds of paradise feathers from birds on bonnets from gay Paris. If the customs men weren't damned in return it wasn't because the owners of the feathers did not think about it. But the wireless had been busy, too, on the incoming ship. When she was far out at sea a little bird whispered that they were cutting off all-grettes and other feathers at the pier. Then ingenuity got working and hats were stripped on board and feathers pushed away down into the bottom of trunks. Those feathers got ashore, but what was the use? The prying inspectors, in strict compliance with their duty, delved into the trunks, and where a feather stuck out it was grabbed and sent to the customhouse.

But some of the ladies on the Imperator were real ingenuities. Whether they sent wires to their friends is not known. But a number of friends managed to get aboard and presto! There was a switching of bonnets, and what could the poor customs men do with a bunch of all-grettes which had been torn by a lady living in New York, who had simply gone aboard to meet her dear friends from abroad. The idea did not work all the time, for there were women from the inspectors' ranks, keeping their eyes open for just such a chance, and woe was brought to the schemers. Everybody who lost a feather threatened reprisals on Uncle Sam.

Among the passengers of the Imperator were Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. P. Morgan, and her two friends, Miss Elsie de Wolf and Elizabeth Marbury, who have been abroad for several months. Miss Morgan had no feathers to be snipped from her bonnet. She brought a big Russian wolfhound which trotted around the deck with her, kept in restraint by a leash. Miss Marbury brought a new idea with her. She declared that she was going to start a society for the protection of downy-bush husbands.

Baron Constantin von Moltke was another passenger on the Imperator. The Baron is fire commissioner of the naval town of Kiel, Ger., and his trip was for the purpose of establishing

MORAL OF THE CHESTNUT

In the October woods a great many people are searching for the small bits of nourishment held in a tiny brown shell, sash with the brilliant green defense of a vegetable porcupine. First of all the cluster of bars must be knocked from the trees by well directed missiles and once in awhile a stick or stone reveals like a boomerang an him who sent it. When the nuts fall at last upon their rustling mat of dead leaves, they must be pried open; and the minute, mettlesome lances resent the intrusion of fingers exporting for the wolf, with interior of nature's pencil cabinet. Like the round common looking pebbles which the geologists call geodes which are cracking open to reveal glittering crystals within the chestnut bur gives no hint in its unpalatable exterior of its desirable contents. It rewards perseverance and is not for the faint hearted or the ill-fingered.

Even so it is with most of the prizes that are worth having in this life. They are beset with obstacles in their seizure; they are externally unpromising; and only he who has the faith and the courage to hold on finds what he has taken is worth having. He must be prepared to suffer pain and discomfort. It may be for the sake of his ideal, with a staunch faith in himself and the outcome of his effort. He must not be deterred by the piercing thorns of the outer integument that hides the very heart of life.

UNKNOWN CANADA

Despite the great emigration boom that Canada has enjoyed for some years past the rapidly with which her vast north-western territories have been opened up to settlement and the grading up of the country with a network of railways and telegraph posts there yet remains huge areas almost entirely unknown and untouched where all sorts of wonders may be discovered. Indeed the enthusiastic explorer longing for new worlds to conquer may well select Canada as his goal. Here he will find limitless tracts of country—blank spaces on the map—where there are mighty ranges of mountains, great rivers and lakes, wonderful forests and wild prairie lands. Away up under the arctic circle there are probably tribes of Indian and Eskimo whose very existence is unknown and whose also roam vast herds of the grandest game to be found on the face of the globe and its reports are to be credited many new and strange beasts. To penetrate into these uncharted lands calls for grit and stamina of the highest order. The pioneer must be prepared to face hardships and perils as great as those encountered by the most daring of arctic and antarctic adventurers.

SHIP MERCHANDISE UNDER FALSE CLASS

New York, Oct. 28.—The railroads are losing hundreds of thousands of dollars annually as the result of an alleged practice by New York merchants of shipping merchandise under a false freight rate classification in violation of the interstate commerce laws. This was asserted by the federal authorities today when in the United States district court the firm of Henry A. Dix and Sons pleaded guilty of the practice and was fined $500.

The firm was accused of shipping dress forms, buttons and other articles under the classification of "dry goods," thereby saving at least 10 cents a hundred pounds on freight.

More than 100 New York firms, including many millinery merchants, are being investigated by the federal authorities and one concern, the American Thermos Ware company, is under indictment.

GERARD PRESENTS HIMSELF

Berlin, Oct. 28.—The new United States ambassador to Germany, James W. Gerard, was received in audience today by Emperor William and presented his own credentials and the farewell letters of his predecessor, John G. A. Lehmann. Mr. Gerard introduced the members of the embassy staff and the military and naval attaches. The conversation between the emperor and the American diplomat was quite informal, dealing principally with golf, riding and other sporting topics. Scarcely any mention was made of politics.

BLIZZARD RAGES IN MINNESOTA

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 29.—The real winter weather of the season struck the western portion of the northwest and Canada today and reached Duluth tonight. A northwest blizzard, heavy snow and low temperature prevail here and the cold will continue all day tomorrow, according to forecast.

All of Saskatchewan and many portions of the northwest are being swept by a cold wave. Quapoint reported two degrees below zero and zero weather was reported all over Saskatchewan. Snow is falling over a wide area. Ships delayed in reaching Duluth are thought to be in shelter. Lake Superior is extremely tempestuous and outgoing vessels are held in the harbor.

New York, Oct. 29.—Ernest A. Muret, bogus dentist and companion of Doc, Hans Schmidt, player of Anna Ammiller, was sentenced today to seven years and six months in the Federal Prison at Atlanta for having in his possession a complete outfit to be used in counterfeiting $20 bills. Muret was convicted yesterday.

In sentencing Muret the court denied his request to be permitted to return to Germany and remain there.

TO NAME NEW DREADNOUGHT ARIZONA

Battleship No. 25, which will be built at the New York navy yard, probably will be named for Arizona. Arizona and New Mexico, the two new states, are the only ones which have no war vessels named for them. For some time it has been expected as certain in naval circles that Mr. Daniels, the Secretary of the navy, would name battleship No. 25 the North Carolina after his native state. Acting on this assumption, residents of the cities of that state have engaged in a bitter fight to have the name of the present armored cruiser North Carolina, now in reserve, at the Boston navy yard, changed, Raleigh, Charlotte and Winston-Salem have been the principal contenders. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, has begun a movement to have the new battleship named after his state.

OKLAHOMA HAS ALIEN LAWS

Drastic Restrictions Are Made in State Constitution.

An alien land law as drastic as the law recently enacted in California is contained in the constitution of Oklahoma. No objection was made to this provision when the constitution was approved by President Roosevelt. The law reads:

"No alien or person who is not a citizen of the United States shall acquire title to or own land in this state and the Legislature shall enact laws whereby persons not citizens of the United States and their heirs who may hereafter acquire real estate in this state by devise descent or otherwise shall dispose of the same within five years upon condition of reversion or forfeiture to the state."

An exception is made in behalf of Indians born within the United States or persons who may become citizens of the Oklahoma Constitution was recently interpreted in answering a letter from Alfred Smith United States consul, Moscow, Russia who had written to Gov. Crouce in behalf of Mrs. Mary Matloff. The latter purchased a large area of land in the Choctaw Nation five years ago at which time she was a citizen of the United States. Later she married and returned to Moscow and is now concerned about the status of her land holdings. Gov. Crouce replied that under the Constitution of Oklahoma Mrs. Matloff was barred from owning land in Oklahoma.

SAW A SEA SERPENT WITH FIELD GLASSES

Hull, Oct. 29.—Wallowing along less than 500 yards off shore between Bay Side and Waveland yesterday, went a sea serpent. The wiggling monster had apparently lost his reckoning in the many fogs and rains of this month so that he could not get an observation to locate his latitude and longitude. At least that is what one of the ancient mariners ascribed his appearance when the summer was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Munch and John W. Douglas, three reliable residents, who have summer homes here, saw the serpent. It was about 10.30 yesterday morning when they were motoring along the shore that they spotted him. The peculiar wiggling motion and the barrel-like formation where his body rose above the water attracted their attention. To make doubly sure Mr. Munch drove back to his home and got a pair of field glasses. Then going close to the shore all three had a look at the serpent.

The serpent was about 50 feet long, and his head was raised above the water a couple of feet. He was not going very fast. The motorists kept pace with him in their car until he disappeared.

Whether this is the same old serpent that bobbed up off here a few years ago is what the residents are wondering, for there was one that sported in the waves then whose size sent a shiver through bathers when they heard of him.

NEW ZEALAND WILL BUILD A NAVY OF THEIR OWN

Washington, Oct. 29.—The Government of the Dominion of New Zealand has decided to adopt the policy of building a navy of its own on the same lines as that of the Commonwealth of Australia and to discontinue its subsidy to the Imperial British navy. Premier William Ferguson Massey in announcing the reversal of the present system explained that the decision of the Government to assume the greater responsibility was due to the inability of the British Admiralty to carry out its agreement of 1900 and station two cruisers of the Bristol type of 4500 tons displacement in New Zealand waters, the Dominion bearing the cost of their upkeep. The British Admiralty had substituted for those two cruisers the Psyche and the Pyramus, of 2150 tons displacement, which were unsatisfactory to the Dominion and the Premier proposed to recommend to the New Zealand Parliament an order for the construction in England in 1914 of a cruiser of the Bristol type at a cost of $2,000,000. This and other war vessels acquired by New Zealand, the Premier said, would be under the administration of the Dominion in time of peace, but would pass automatically into the control of the Admiralty during time of war or when they might be urgently needed. The British Dominions in the Pacific the Premier said, in conclusion aimed at nothing less than the same naval supremacy in those seas as was held by their kinsmen on the other side of the world.

The serpent seen yesterday was proceeding south, so he is ostensibly on his way to be present at the opening of the Panama Canal. That there will be a big dispute over which dunce of the deep goes from the Atlantic to the Pacific first is certain. In order to get down there in time, Mr. Serpent will have to get a wiggle on for Atlantic City will need him for a while to keep it on the map.

Meeting On Monday Next

The board of wages will meet again on Monday next. The committee representing the several trades will be notified by the board as to the time they are to appear and be heard relative to wages etc.

The Herald Hears

That the governor and council may make some appointments today.

That the appointment of Frank P. Fessenden to his new position meets with general approval among railroad men.

That Engine 3 of the fire department may leave Manchester today.

That Portsmouth is pretty well courted at present with a section of the United States District Court and Superior Court on at the same time.

That this city should have more sessions of the superior court than it does.

That gunners' licenses are far ahead of marriage licenses at city hall just now.

That petty thieving is keeping the railroad officials busy.

That the Concord Monitor says: Manchester, Nashua and Portsmouth, all amusement centers, may be expected to clamor soon for a share in this Shaw-Jerome continuous performance, which Concord and Rochester have so far divided between them.

That Harry will wish he had been here all the time after his first visit.

That Blidford wants a New England League baseball team.

That the kids will be in their glory tonight.

That Jane Adams considers a derby hat in the silly class, but Jane should be informed that it has not a thing on the sill skirt.

That verily was somewhat lacking in the reports of liquor shipments to Maine in the last few days.

That the 150th Company is still at New Castle.

That local politicians close to the center say that the Republican majority nomination will come to Wren Four this time.

That one man from that ward has never taken his hat from the bag since he joined the ward as a voter.

That Governor Fox is taking a walk-up at organized labor.

That the return ballots will come at the ballot box on election day.

That the single men of the Consolidation Coal Co. hit the dust at bowling on Wednesday night.

That the single men with two cripples is said to have put it over on the old timers of the office force.

That neither side is anxious to see the score house.

POLICE NEWS.

A resident of Pine street named Coady reported to the police today that a neighbor of his caused quite a fright to his family on Wednesday night by coming to the yard in the rear of his home and discharging a gun twice, for what purpose he did not know. The police are investigating and an arrest may follow.

James Lawler, one of the famous dry dock squad, who labored on the big basin of Uncle Sam at the navy yard years ago, blew into town on Wednesday from the lumber district of Maine east of Bangor. James was flush with $150 or more, and even with an open season for booze at Portland, he wanted to again sample the wet products of this town and started in renewing his old acquaintances in the North End district. Officer Kelley was of great assistance to Sir James and he got him while delivering a political oration from the curb. He came to the rescue just in time to check James' career as a spendthrift. He had just forty-five left in his inside pocket and after a snooze on the soft side of a board he was escorted to the depot today and took passage on the Bar Harbor express for the camp in Penobscot county. He departed with tears in his eyes as he said to Officer Kelley, "Goodbye, old scout, I wish I could stay longer in the old town; it's good enough for me."

A case of assault against a West End resident was settled out of court. Clarence Reagan for drunkenness paid a fine of $5 and costs, $6.00.

UNITED STATES COURT.

Jury in Case of Sargent vs. Lane Views Scene of the Accident.

At the opening of today's session of the United States District court, a jury was drawn to hear the case of Alvah Sargent of Newton vs. Mr. Louie of Everett, Mass. This is an action brought by Mr. Sargent to recover for personal damages alleged to have been caused by his being knocked down by an automobile driven by the defendant at Salisbury Square on August 4, 1912, immediately after the drawing of the jury automobiles were taken for Salisbury to view the scene of the accident. At 2 o'clock the jury had not returned to this city.

I WONDER

If there will be as many applicants for keeper of the playground as their used to be for the public bath house?

Who will be good enough to send a few loads of gravel over to Nobles Island to fill up the holes in the street?

If that Market street fisherman has got that 800 pounds of eels salted for the winter?

If that member of the veteran fireman who has been gunning in Connecticut will charter a freight train to get all the game home?

If the boys will ever find out just how he got those two deer?

Why something is not done with the old chemical engine?

If the idea of some of the fire department authorities to put the machine in commission under gasoline power, is not a good one?

If the subscribers of the telephone realize what an operator at an exchange switchboard has to put up with especially when the fire alarm rings?

If their ideas would not be decidedly changed if they ever got the opportunity to see the operators at work when the switchboard is ablaze with lights from calls in every part of the city at one time looking for information?

What is being done on the toll bridge matter that was recently put up to the county authorities?

If all the mushroom pickers who have been getting the big ones are through for the season?

Why children are so hard of hearing just as the curfew rings at night?

If any of the many local football teams that have been seen on the field in the past, will come back?

Why people don't use a little more judgment in loading barrels and boxes for the city rubbish wagons?

If the men in the street department are not justified in the kicks that they often make?

What is being done on the matter of the State Armory?

How the Hermit Club take to the Currency Bill?

If there has been any more road pigs appears in Kittery lately?

If that member of the fire department has all his actors picked for the stage?

If he has his friend at the Court street station picked for the heavy part?
